"As the fourth largest market in the United States and an area where NACR is a proven communications solutions integrator, the Houston region is a top priority for NACR," said John Behnken, National Vice President of NACR. "We are excited to expand our presence there in order to provide our customers with the highest levels of personalized service and technical support."

NACR is one of the largest Avaya channel partners worldwide and the leading independent integrator of best-in-class communications, collaboration, and customer interaction solutions in the United States — delivering comprehensive sales, consultation, training, and technical support, as well as managed services, maintenance, and repairs. The company works closely with Avaya and other technology innovators to integrate the latest hardware, software, and applications into end-to-end multivendor solutions for diverse markets.

"Mike and his team are dedicated to helping customers use communications technology to solve problems and realize added value," according to David Garlich, Southern Region Vice President at NACR. "Having a physical NACR location in Houston will be a tremendous added asset to every customer in the region."

The NACR team in Houston will include regional sales professionals, pre-sale technical specialists, design engineers, system engineers, and project management specialists. The office will also serve as a base for any NACR consultants and installation and maintenance technicians who come to the area to perform work locally.
