

ConvergeOne Appoints Eric Walter Vice President, Cloud Operations

EAGAN, Minn., Aug. 22, 2017 /PRNewswire/ -- ConvergeOne, a leading IT services provider of collaboration and technology solutions, today announced that Eric Walter has joined the company as Vice President, Cloud Operations. In this newly created position, Mr. Walter is responsible for ConvergeOne's cloud operations and delivery and will focus on driving efficiencies through automation, process and technology. He will report directly to ConvergeOne chairman and CEO, John A. McKenna Jr.

"ConvergeOne continually makes strategic investments in resources and people who share our mission and commitment to meeting our customers' changing business requirements and technology needs," said McKenna. "We are excited for Eric to join us as we continue to expand our cloud capabilities, further enabling us to deploy and support powerful solutions that enhance productivity and ROI for our customers."

Mr. Walter joins ConvergeOne from Genesys/Interactive Intelligence, where he served as Vice President of Cloud Services. "I am thrilled to join ConvergeOne and look forward to being part of a company uniquely positioned to deliver complete cloud migration strategies to its customers." Walter continued, "I look forward to working with this innovative team and to advancing their cloud initiatives and growth."

Prior to Genesys/Interactive Intelligence, Mr. Walter spent over ten years in leadership positions at IBM focused on data center management and disaster recovery planning.

ConvergeOne's broad portfolio and deep technical expertise enable the company to deliver complex, multi-vendor cloud solutions across on-premise, private, hybrid, public and the company's own ConvergeOne Cloud environments based on the service and security needs of its customers, which differentiates ConvergeOne from other IT solution providers.
